

It all starts with sex under a deskâ€”Heart of Fame, Book 7After yet another month without a lead singer, the band Synergy is on the verge of calling it quits. Which drives Jaxon Campbell, keyboardist and perpetual player, to do something dangerousâ€”hit up a woman with contactsâ€”and curvesâ€”in all the right places. Trouble is, the last time he saw her, he kind of broke her heart. And stole her cherished, autographed AC/DC album. Natalie Thorton, Dean of the Sydney Conservatorium of Music, knows everyone whoâ€™s anyone in Australiaâ€™s music industry. Sheâ€™s driven and utterly professional and doesnâ€™t have room in her schedule for relationships. When Jaxon strides into her office, all of Natalieâ€™s suppressed sexual urgesâ€”the ones born in Jaxâ€™s armsâ€”surge to the surface. He wants something from her? Well, she wants something from him. Orgasms. Lots of them. How can Jax say no? Heâ€™s never forgotten her, and itâ€™s not like theyâ€™re going to fall in love. But just whoâ€™s playing who? And whose heart is going to fall first? Warning: Contains a sexual challenge involving sex in public places, sex in private places, sex in moving cars, sex against windows and sex in the company of an oblivious federal politician. So basically, weâ€™re talking about getting laid. A lot.
